How to register

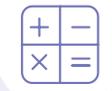

It's easy to register, visit pru.co.uk/registernow and follow these five simple steps:

Think ahead for your future

It might not be something you think about often, but it's important to nominate your beneficiaries and keep them up to date – especially if your personal circumstances change. By doing this, you're choosing who will receive the money in your pension pot if you die.

If your scheme allows, you may be able to set up or change your beneficiaries through your online account. Speak to your employer to find out how you can do this.
